COMMUNITY OF PRACTICE

Overview

The Community of Practice is a term used to describe a group of people who use an online forum to share their concerns about, passions for or interests in something they have in common. The primary focus of the ACDS Community of Practice – On Common Ground – is on issues around Community Disability Services.

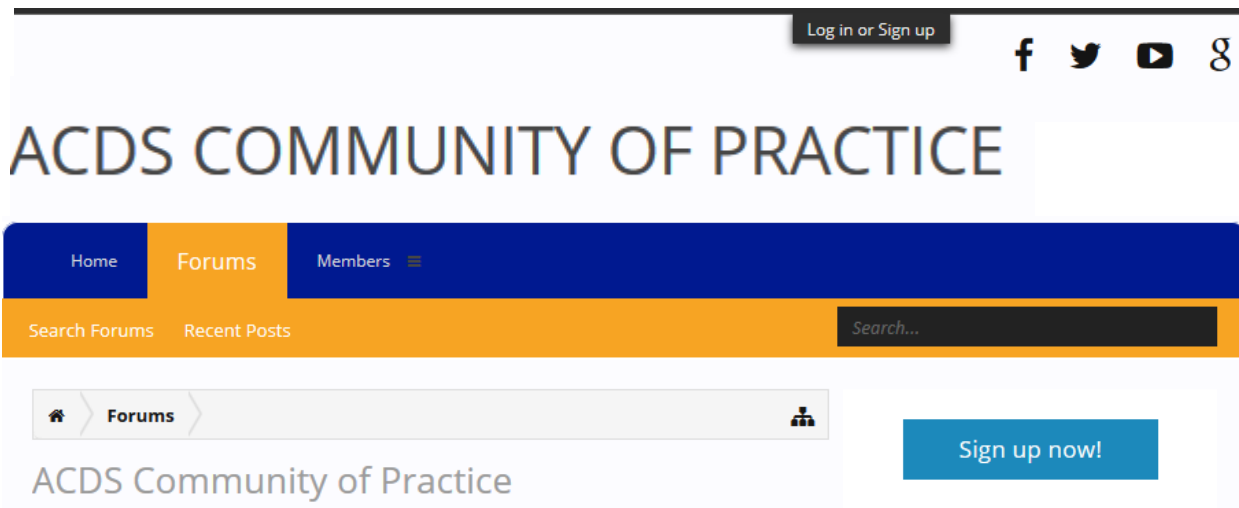

Who might be interested in this group?

People who work in, have an interest in, or use services that are part of the Human Services field, such as

- Professionals
- Educators
- Service Provider Staff at any level
- Students
- People considering a career in the field
- People who receive services and supports (e.g., families, individuals)
